EL CERRITO RECALL PETITIONS IN CIRCULATION

Ouster Demand Follows Fight Over Paving

Before the echoes of El Cerrito's turbulent council meeting on Monday night had died down yesterday morning, recall petitions directed against three members of the city council were being circulated in the city.

Those named in the petitions are Mayor Phil A. Lee and Councilmen Ernest O'Brien and Charles Zimmerman, the same trio who on Monday night voted to accept the paving work in the Berkeley Country Club Terrace tract involving in the neighborhood of $300,000.

The petitions made their appearance almost simultaneously with the circulation on the streets of the city of reports on the stormy session last night during which Chief of Police R. R. Cheek was kept busy to keep order and evicting battlers who objected to the procedure of the council.

Rumblings that resounded from the paving under debate, could be heard at practically every place where a group of citizens gathered yesterday. Charges which had been made at the council meeting were elaborated upon, and the city in general took on the appearance of a city before an old time political campaign on the night before election.

That the fight will be bitter was indicated on every hand. Boosters of the recall petitions were free in predicting that the necessary signatures would be obtained in record time while those supporting the three councilmen were as insistent that the legal number of signatures for the recall petitions would not be forthcoming.

Whether or not legal action will be taken by the faction opposing the acceptance of the paving could not be learned last night. The possibility of an injunction looms but the opponents refused to make any definite statements on the matter.

PUBLIC SHOWN FIRE ALARM METHOD

When minutes count, a life most dear may depend upon the ability to turn in a fire alarm which will bring aid in the fastest possible time.

Richmond citizens are not fully aware of the proper way to turn in a fire alarm, according to Assistant Fire Chief J. J. Barry and as a result many valuable minutes are often lost in bringing fire apparatus to the scene of the fire.

One of the features of fire prevention week, which is being held in Richmond, is instruction for the general public on how to turn in an alarm properly.

According to Barry, the general response to this portion of the peccetd manem women bonemoepeet "Like a great many other (Continued on Page Eight)

Student Held As Leader Of Statewide Ring

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Operation of many "communist mills" among school children of Los Angeles was said to have been revealed today when police arrested Sol Erenburg, 25, a student at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The organization also worked among sailors of the Pacific battle fleet, police said.

A large quantity of literature was seized in Erenburg's room including membership lists in the Young Workers' Communist League and the Young Pioneers of which Erenburg was declared district organizer.

The raid followed arrests Monday of two boys and two girls at San Pedro, charged with distributing literature to sailors.

Louis Schneiderman, one of those arrested, was also a student at U. C. L. A. and the girls were high school pupils.

Records pertaining to young workers' communists league branches in San Francisco, Oakland, Fort Bragg, San Diego, Berkeley and Redwood City were taken in the raid on Erenburg's room it was announced.

Alimony Martyr Freed By Buddies

WILLOWS, Oct. 9.—San Red Glenn county's famous "alimony martyr" is today a free man. His buddies of the 363rd Infantry presented a check for $850 to the superior court, covering the amount of a half-year's alimony payments for which Reid has been serving more than three years in the Glenn county jail.

Reid was adjudged in contempt of court for refusing to obey a court order to pay alimony of $40 a month to his wife who sued him for divorce on grounds of cruelty.

Sheriff Rex Heard, who recently took Reid to San Francisco to attend a reunion of the 363rd Infantry, was adjudged guilty of contempt of court in taking him prisoner from the jail and fined $250. A special committee from the Glenn county Bar Association prosecuted the sheriff.

Hickman Fight For Life Goes To Young

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Clemency will not be granted to William Edward Hickman, condemned slayer of Marlon Parker by Gov. C. C. Young of California, unless something unusual is brought to his attention the state executive said here tonight.

Jerome Walsh, attorney who has fought so valiantly to save William Edward Hickman from the gallows in San Quentin prison ten days hence, lost his fight today to have the United States supreme court consider an appeal from the California sentence of death for the slayer of 12-year-old Marlon Parker, Los Angeles school girl.

Five supreme court justices turned a deaf ear to Walsh's plea for an appeal which would grant the California boy killer a day of execution.

Walsh announced he had given up the supreme court fight after Justice Harlan Fiske Stone—the fifth to be visited—turned down Walsh's plea.

One hope remains for the kid-naper-slayer—executive clemency from Governor Young of California. Walsh, beaten in his supreme court fight, but satisfied that he has made every effort to save Hickman from the gallows, said he would wire the governor asking a hearing on a petition for clemency. He left here tonight for Kansas City enroute to California.

Lieut. Ivan M. Palmer, pilot of the plane from which Trammell leaped at a height of 1500 feet said the private hesitated for 15 or 20 seconds after being given the signal to jump. This Palmer said, brought the student nearer the gulf and winds carried him out over the water.

WHAT GOV. SMITH DIDN'T EXPLAIN

If Governor Smith's Oklahoma City speech is an indication, the Governor believes he did a good job of reorganizing the fiscal affairs of the State of New York. He is proud of the record. He devoted a good part of that speech to saying so.

Governor Smith quoted quite a few figures in setting forth just what he had done. There was one set of figures however, which he didn't quote. He didn't mention the fact that New York state expenditures jumped from $79,742,834 in 1917 to $215,704,000 in 1927. He didn't tell his audience that while he was delving in the garden of New York state finance the choicest fruit of the garden was an increased cost to the taxpayers of $135,961,166 annually.

This omission on the part of the Governor is all the more interesting in view of what he and his colleagues have had to say about the "mythical" economy of the Coolidge administration. In 1923 expenditures by the federal government were $3,532,000,000. After five years of Coolidge economy, which the governor affects to despise, the cost of national government had been cut to $3,479,000,000, despite enormous increases in veterans' relief, and a decrease of six billion dollars in the bonded debt.

To use the governor's own expression figures sometimes speak louder than words. But in this instance the echo spoils the original effect.

It is said that Americans spend twice as much for candy as for books, but judging from some of the books we have read recently, this is nothing to be held against the Americans.

The fact that people in the old days believed in witchcraft does not seem so ridiculous when you remember that there are thousands of people nowadays who believe in bootleggers.

We don't know who would be the harder to believe, Baron Munchausen or the wet advocate who tells us he is sore at prohibition because it doesn't prohibit.

It is true that the married girls don't bake as much bread as they used to but there is a silver lining to this dark cloud. They are not so handy with the rolling pin either.

The first thing the bridegroom used to get for his wife after marriage was a set of pie tins. Now it is a can opener.

Listening to an opposition speaker on the radio and being unable to talk back is about as annoying as a series of hot towels in a barber shop.

One way to get into politics and still remain quiet and unannoyed is to get yourself made a presidential elector.

One of the odd facts of life is that the less under-clothing there is, the more is seen of it.

The value of the smuggled liquor all goes to the bootlegger—to the fellow who drinks it, it is worse than useless.

This year instead of using soft soap a great many politicians are using the liquid kind.

It seems to take the girls just as long to dress now as it did in the days when they wore a lot of clothes.

Fellows who are demanding justice wouldn't be so after they got it.

election result in Missouri seems about as un- as a crate of cantaloupes.

Julie Says—

An interesting silk and one that was formerly used for men's frocks is cravat silk and it is usually made up in small geometric patterns. It drapes beautifully and is soft enough and yet has sufficient body to make interesting folds. This frock is of two tones of red and is combined with black transparent velvet which makes the collar and cuffs. The skirt is made interesting by flared tiers set on diagonally and the belt is finished with a buckle of rubies (red glass). An unusual type of afternoon frock in this day of velvet and satin.

BEAUTY

Dear Miss Lane
Can you help me with a bit of advice. I have such large legs that I have become self-conscious about them. I hate to go out. I have tried leg exercises but they do not seem to reduce my ankles at all. I'm lank-boned but weigh only one hundred and thirty-five pounds, although I am five feet, five inches tall.
I'm a redhead and lately have acquired a crop of freckles that would like to get rid of. Will you try and help a rather discouraged female with her problems?—T. C. D.

If you persist in your exercise watch your weight carefully, and dress discreetly there is no reason for you to "hate to go out." I don't know just what exercises you have been doing so it is useless for me to advise you further on that score.

With legs as large as yours, you should never wear a tight short skirt no matter what the prevailing fashion. Of course, you don't have to make yourself ridiculous with trailing voluminous skirts but you can use discretion when choosing your gowns.

Never wear tight stockings—they always make your legs look half again their size—and purchase shoes that will not accentuate the size of your legs. A short-waisted, slightly strapped shoe is one that you should always pass by in favor of one that will add to the length and slenderness of your foot.

Don't be discouraged, and perhaps with patient exercise and diet and with the use of good judgment in choosing your clothes you will not be embarrassed in the future.

As to the freckles, I again sug-

BABE STARS AS YANKS WIN WORLD SERIES

HERO OF THE SERIES. Babe Ruth, whose mighty swat stick sent three homers into the air yesterday and incidentally started the rally which put the Yankees on top of the world. Ruth's work with the bat during the series was one of the outstanding features of the games.

(By Pacific & Atlantic)

HERE THEY ARE. The winning Yankee team with the exception of Pennock, Hoyt and Combs. Front (l. to r.) Zackary, Durst, Durocher, Bennett, Thomas, Johnson and Ryan; Center (l. to r.) Woods, Dugan, Gazella, O'Leary, Huggins (manager) Fletcher, Bengough, Robertson. Rear (l. to r.) Ruth, Lazzeri, Dickey, Phipps, Paschal, Koenig, Dhealy, Meusel, Grabowski, Burns, Heimach, Mathews and Gehrig.

FIRST HOME RUN of the World series was batted by Bob Meusel, Yankee outfielder of the New York Yankees. Here you see Bob crossing the plate after Babe Ruth who had doubled. Tony Lazzeri is waiting to congratulate Bob and Catcher Jim Wilson of the Cardinals isn't paying attention to the proceedings. From the very start plays such as this showed the superiority of the New York aggregation.

NEW YORKERS RIDE ROUGH SHOD OVER LOWLY CARDS, BAMBINI CLOUTS 3 HOMERS

By FRANK GETTY
SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Oct. 9.—The New York Yankees smashed their way to their fourth straight victory over the St. Louis Cardinals and another World Championship today.

Yank lightning struck late, but with deadly effect, dashing the hopes of the 37,311 fans who had been cheering themselves hoarse over an early lead piled up by the National League champions.

Five home runs, three of which were batted out by the irrepressible Babe Ruth, who was a whole ball team in himself today, swept aside the last vestige of Card defense and carried the Yankees to the peak of the baseball world as they won the fourth game of the 1928 World Series.

For six innings this afternoon, another of those bright and sunny but sultry days for St. Louis, it seemed as though the Cards would wrest at least one bad game of this amazing series from the American leaguers.

Then came one of those breaks of the game which furnished the national pastime with its thrills and heart throbs.

With the Cards bunting a 2 to 1 lead, Willie Shields, last hope of St. Louis, thought he had struck out Babe Ruth in the seventh. He had fooled the Bambino with two slow floaters and tried to slip over a fast third strike before Ruth was set. The umpire refused to allow it and after a furious argument in which everybody but the ball boys joined, Shields returned to the box and threw away the ball game.

CHICAGO CUBS ANNEX CLUB PENNANT

CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—The Chicago Cubs went on a batting spree today and won the city championship from the White Sox, 13 to 2. The National leaguers hammered four Sox pitchers for a total of 16 hits.

The series had been tied at three games each and today's contest was the seventh and deciding one.

The Cubs started out in the first inning to get a commanding lead. The complete line-up batted around and two Sox pitchers, Connelly and young Ed Walsh, were routed before the inning closed. The Cubs had scored six runs on five hits and an error.

Grad Adkins, Sox pitching staff, lasted until the fifth when the Cubs solved his offerings and drove him to the showers. Cox was called upon to hurl but the Sox defense collapsed and six more runs were registered in this inning by the Cubs on five hits and four errors.

Sheriff Blake, the Cubs' herler, is in danger at no time during the game, especially with his team piling up a heavy lead for him. He held the Sox to four hits up until the ninth.

The line score: Cubs—600-060-100-13-16-0. Sox—000-000-002-2-7-5. Batteries: Blake and Hartnett; Connelly, Walsh, Adkins, Cox and Berg.

RUSSIA NOW MECCA FOR TROTTERS

PARIS, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—The Paradise of trotting-race enthusiasts is to be found in Russia, according to Nicky Sherkassoff, the Russian driver, who this winter will visit the rest of Europe and who may then spend a month or two in the United States and South America.

The sport is growing rapidly in Russia, where horsemanship and knowledge of horses is almost intuitive. Special trotting tracks, banked and the sides, with hard rubber foundations and almost luxurious tribunes are to be found in a score of cities, west of the Uris.

"And a single trotting meeting means not less than 27 races," says Sherkassoff. "They commence at 10 o'clock in the morning and each race is run with inconceivable precision. There is none of the last-minute loss of time that is found in France, Italy or the United States."

Sherkassoff is enthusiastic over the race of trotting horses that France has succeeded in breeding after nearly 50 years of serious

OFFENDERS TO PRESERVE GAME

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 9.—Making of converts to the cause of fish and game protection is one of the jobs of the deputies of game division of fish and game, and that this is being done was proved a few days ago when Deputy Robert J. Little of Banning, Riverside county, successfully appealed for mercy for two boys he had arrested for shooting ducks out of season.

Little grabbed George Leach, 15, and Herbert Leach, 17, three miles east of Thermal, and took them into the court of Judge Atchison of Thermal. There they were held while Little and the judge investigated their records and character.

When it was found that the boys were known to all as good boys, who had never been in any trouble, the deputy and the judge decided that a severe lecture would have more effect than a fine. As a result the pair was let down with the message of conservation and protection ringing in their ears, and had promised to aid in every way to protect the wild life of the state in the future.

"Making converts to the cause many times means more than arrests, and it is commendable on the part of field men. Care must be exercised in this work, and the fish and game committee must be protected but in this case I think Deputy Little did the proper thing," Charles Bauder, assistant chief of patrol in charge of the southern district, declared when he received Little's report.

HEAVY PACK OF SEA FOOD IN STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Luminating facts showing that canned, smoked and dried fish valued at $23,648,518 was produced by canneries and packers in California during 1927 are contained in Circular No. 2, just released for general distribution to all who desire this information from the Commercial Fishery Department of the Division of Fish and Game.

The circular mentioned, one of the most complete ever published by the Department, also contains a complete record of the catch for 1927, with detail showing the various kinds of fish taken as well as a complete report of the sardine canner operations during the period.

Packing plants numbering 75, valued at $8,606,383 and employing 5,461 people handled the heavy pack of sea food specified in the report. Sardines as usual headed the list, six types of pack resulting in the production of 2,625,412 cases, while bonito scored the least with but 435 cases being packed.

In the San Pedro district the highest canning record was made with 1916,422 cases being packed while Monterey came second with 1,396,762 cases. The total number of cases of canned fish is given as 3,882,900. Dried and smoked fish included anchovies, Bismark herring, mackerel, rollmop, sardine, salmon, salmon sardines, shad, sprats and squid. Squid leads in this class with 1,200,000 pounds being turned out at Monterey. "Salted sardines" follow with 110,770 pounds. Mild cured salmon numbered 2,052,322 cases, and smoked salmon totalled 66,505 pounds.

In addition to the products mentioned, 263 tons of fish flour, 21,111 tons of fish meal and 2,618,490 gallons of fish oil were turned out in the by-product plants operated by the canners and packers.

Reuther won 23 games and lost only seven during the season, while Keating hurled 27 wins and was charged with 10 defeats. It is the best season that Keating has ever had.

Although the Seals are in a batting slump, the Senators' pitchers are not any too strong. The Seals enter the series as big favorites.

Golf May End Petting Parties

OKEHMA, Okla., Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Putting parties are putting petting parties out of business in Okemah.

The putting party idea belongs to the Rev. L. P. Depolier, pastor of the Christian church here, and was executed by the Livewire class of his Sunday school.

Recognizing the need for another type of evening amusement, the minister had a miniature, 14-hole golf course built about the town of the church.

Powerful lights illuminate the course at night.

Walt Christie Dean Of All Track Coaches

BERKELEY, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Track teams may come and track teams may go, but it seems that Coach Walt Christie of the University of California keeps going on forever.

"Walt," as he is known on the campus, has handled the destinies of California's track for 28 years. Some five years ago he accomplished the unprecedented and won three U. C. A. titles in a row.

Walter Camp, may have been the grand old man of football and about the same prestige has been built up by Christie in track circles on the coast.

Cock Fighting IN PERU ON DECLINE

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Cock fighting is making a last stand here, but the popularity of the birds is waning, and Saturday at tendance at the cockpits is only a tenth of the crowds which flock to football field and boxing ring.

Fighting roosters are armed with four-inch curved spurs, ground to a razor edge, so that the battles are bloody and usually fatal to one or both combatants. The quick stroke is enough to decapitate a bird cleanly.

Procedure is solemn and leisurely. The Lima cockpit is an octagonal building near famous San Marcos university, is partially roofed with corrugated iron, and holds seven hundred spectators. Usually it is half filled with laborers, clerks, and a few of the sporting fraternity. Admission is one cent, or four cents U. S., and the house derives its major income from the betting.

Fights are scheduled to start at six thirty p. m. and there may be a dozen bouts before the end of the night. Last Saturday's program was typical:

About 6:40 the floodlights were switched on above the pit, which is octagonal and twenty-five feet from a dirt floor. The cock was then about 150 fans present, including three old women. Shortly afterwards the judge, a white-haired, benevolent looking old man with tortoise-shell glasses, took his seat at the ring-side.

Two cocks were brought out, without spurs, and allowed to make brief passes at each other so that the fans might judge their merits. The brown rooster, from the sea farms, was said by judges to be "mas fuerte," stronger, but the red one from Cantopia was called "my fin," of very fine stock.

Betting started on a pari-mutuel plan with tickets from two soles (eighty cents) up. Most of the fans held the Cantopia cock and the odds were 136 to 85 in his favor. Side bets were forbidden, and wagers posted on the blackboard as made.

Handers bound the vicious steel spurs to the bird's left legs, the judge examined each spur, and the announcer droned through his "Gentlemen, we will now present to you the benevolent judge rang his handclap, and the birds were set down in the center of the ring.

There was an expectant silence by crowds of mutual defiance. After picking briefly in the dirt, the red cock started at the other, which met him in midair with a flurry of beating wings.

There was no defensive tactics—only attack. The birds rushed at each other, the red cock forward blow, and used beak and spur together. The crowd, sighed when the favorite was struck in the eye. There was another clash in handclap, and the birds were set down in the center of the ring.

The roosters were removed and the chickens in numbered blue caps. The judge showered feathers, while the cashier carried his tray around the ring, paying bets. He returned three for two, so that the house made about ten per cent.

COCK FIGHTING IN PERU ON DECLINE

LIMA, Peru, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—Cock fighting is making a last stand here, but the popularity of the birds is waning, and Saturday at tendance at the cockpits is only a tenth of the crowds which flock to football field and boxing ring.

Fighting roosters are armed with four-inch curved spurs, ground to a razor edge, so that the battles are bloody and usually fatal to one or both combatants. The quick stroke is enough to decapitate a bird cleanly.

Procedure is solemn and leisurely. The Lima cockpit is an octagonal building near famous San Marcos university, is partially roofed with corrugated iron, and holds seven hundred spectators. GUARDS ACTIVE IN RICHMOND AFFAIRS

A new body that is beginning to become very active in Richmond is the "American Guards, Inc." of which B. G. Wardington is the supreme head, and E. E. Darling, the secretary.

In corporation papers for the American Guards were issued by the secretary on June 14, 1927, and since that time the officers of the organization have been busy working out constitution by-laws and rituals.

To reveal what kind of an organization the American Guard is will be best illustrated by stating what the American Guards as an organization "is not."

It is not a fraternal organization, although the spirit of fraternalism is in it.

It is not a patriotic organization, although a patriotic and civic attitude is ever maintained by its members.

It is not a religious organization since any religious creed is not incorporated in it, directly or indirectly.

It is not a social organization since it has a definite business to transact, not a business in the sense ordinarily accepted which involves the making of money.

It is not a charitable organization.

It is an organization, however, that is humanitarian. Its activities and purposes are to the end of benefiting humanity regardless of sects, groups, political parties, or nations.

The precepts are such that there will be disseminated into society such principles as will be conducive to better citizenship.

The outline of the organization in referring to membership says: "Every citizen, who is worthy of the name, who appreciates the privilege of calling himself a citizen as against being merely a subject shall indicate his purpose by being actively interested in all civic affairs taking place in his community. He shall commend these in office of public trust for faithful performance of their duties and he will not hesitate to oppose and lend every effort for the eradication from office of public trust, those who have betrayed the confidence of citizens."

The purpose of the organization are best illustrated by a quotation from the constitution:

"The purpose of this organization shall be to study civic problems of national, state and municipal importance; to develop and maintain a fraternal spirit among its members, promote fraternal assistance, and by a practical devotion to, and active participation in civic affairs, observe, protect, and maintain the distinctive institutions, rights, privileges, immunities, traditions and ideals of pure Americanism."

Another paragraph from the aims and purposes of the organization reads as follows:

"The American Guards as an organization holds that to be ac-

English Speaker In Lecture At Wesley Church

A bit of England will be brought to Richmond tonight when Dr. H. W. C. Ainsley speaks at the Wesley M. E. church. The illustrated lecture will take the place of the usual Wednesday evening service.

A native of Epworth, England, Dr. Ainsley will show the beauties of his native land with the assistance of a group of colored slides. These include the famous castles of the country and other historical scenes. The speaker takes his audience through the southern portion of England and up to Epworth where the assistance of the illustrations.

The Richmond church will be the 75th church in which Dr. Ainsley has presented his program in California. An invitation has been extended to the public to attend.

Extensive service to humanity must always assume the position of being an ally to our present form of government. In assuming to be the ally of this government it is necessary for the American Guards to take a position on the same plane as the government rests. This has been done, as indicated by that part which shows that it is free from any religious aspect, leaving no cause for any religious controversy.

Further details concerning the organization can be secured by getting in touch with the officers named in the first part of this article.—Adv.

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 9.—(U.P.)—America's craze for witty road warnings and danger signals has arrived here. The country side for some distance around Cardiff is plastered with such signs as:

"A car on the road is worth two in the ditch."

"Fatal accident here."

"Better be slow than sorry."

"Be wise in time (Psalm vi)."

"Remember the fireworks must be paid for."

"Life is short. Don't make it shorter by screaming when you didn't oughter."

PUBLIC SHOWN FIRE ALARM METHODS

Thousands of people saw the small "buzzer" Larry said, "people believe that they know how to do it. But in the majority of cases the average citizen understands little of the proper operation of the box."

A member of the fire department will be at the Mechanics building today to continue his program of instruction. He then have been stationed in Richmond on duty during the week giving instruction in the ringing in of fire alarms.

The general public has given a ready response to all the work in the fire prevention program, according to Barry, and he predicts a sharp increase for the week.

Pupils who have been appointed junior fire marshals and who have been given the duty of checking hazards in their homes have been asked by Barry to take them home before using them out of the value of the report is lost unless an actual inspection of the property reported on is made at the time the report is made out, Barry reported.

Boy Scouts are aiding in the distribution of fire prevention cards and have aided generally in the campaign.

Barry will address the student body of the Richmond Union high school this morning on fire prevention and the correction of fire hazards in their homes.

Service clubs have responded generously in aiding the work, Barry reports. George Townsend, assistant secretary of the Firemen Fund Insurance company, addressed the Lions club yesterday on fire prevention and will talk to the Kiwanians today. Barry gave the Lions a demonstration in the operation of fire apparatus. The Rotarians meet on Friday will also hear a speaker on fire prevention.

Reorganization of the club has been discussed. Forty members are on the rolls and Rev. Alden Pratt has expressed his pleasure of finding so many men engaged in the work of the church.

'TALKIE' FIGHT NO NEARER SOLUTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—As a last minute effort to avoid a walk-out of union employees at the Embassy theater here, conferences were being held late tonight.

The local musicians' union has threatened to "close the theater" unless an orchestra is employed, despite the fact that the theater has a mechanical orchestra.

So significant is the present situation, that C. T. Connell, of the United States Department of Labor came here from Los Angeles today to conduct a board of mediation.

The manager of the theater has declared the union's demand unfair in that his house has no need for an orchestra.

Theater owners all over the country are watching the fight, and a resultant action of the union manager may set a precedent for the nation.
